

S Speaker 1 0:00

D alright. So what's your name?

S Speaker 2 0:02

Jada,

S Speaker 1 0:04

am I spelling that real quick?

S Speaker 2 0:06

J, A, D,

S Speaker 1 0:08

A, j, A, D, do you mind spelling your last name as well? Or no? Okay, so what do you like most about the like playgrounds here? I think it's

S Speaker 2 0:20

S Speaker 1 0:22

safety. Safety. Could you elaborate on that a bit more?

S Speaker 2 0:35

I don't feel encouraged to record

This is a transcript of an interview that I had when I was writing one of my stories. I had learned about the laws and ethics of journalism before, but I had never had to consider them back then because I was not writing any articles where these laws would have taken effect. After the person told me that they were not willing to be recorded, I stopped recording the interview and I did not use anything that they said in the article. I was also careful with how I took the photos for this story because there were also restrictions on the people that were able to be in the photo, and I believe that these experiences have helped me grow and become more aware of these things.