

This is an email that shows a business that I sold an ad to. Before this semester, I had never sold an ad and I was unsure whether I would be able to sell any ads or not. However, as I talked to more people, I was able to gain more experience and confidence. By the end of the semester, I had sold ads to several people and I feel like I have gotten better at advertising our newspaper. I think this is an area where I will grow even more, but I am happy with the progress that I have made so far.
